1 20. CornerStone is ignorant of the true names and capacities of defendants
2 sued herein as Does 1 through 100, inclusive, and therefore sues said defendants by 3 those fictitious names. CornerStone will amend this complaint to allege their true
4 names and capacities when ascertained. CornerStone is informed and believes and 5 thereon alleges that Does 1-50 are "Shell Staffing Companies" and Does 51-100 are 6 "RICO Defendants" which are defined in Paragraph 32 below. CornerStone is 7 informed and believes and thereon alleges that each of the defendants fictitiously 8 named is responsible in some manner for the acts as hereinafter alleged, and that 9 CornerStone's damages as set forth herein were proximately caused by said
10 defendants, and each of them, through their acts as set forth in this complaint. Each 11 reference in this Complaint to "defendant," "defendants," or a specifically named 12 defendant, also refers to all defendants sued under fictitious names.

13 21. CornerStone is informed and believes, and on that basis alleges, that 14 each of the defendants name herein as Does 1 through 100 was the agent, servant,
15 employee, and representative of one or more of the other defendants, and in so
16 doing the thing hereinafter mentioned, was acting within the scope of its authority 17 as such agent, servant, employee and representative with the permission and 18 consent of said individuals and/or entities.

19 22. CornerStone is informed and believes, and on that basis alleges, that 20 the individually named defendants and Does 1 through 100 are alter egos of each 21 other. Defendants, in both words and deeds, affirmed and ratified each other's 22 agreements and obligations, and in doing the things hereinafter mentioned, were 23 acting within the scope of their authority as such alter egos with the permission and 24 consent of their respective principals and/or employers.

JURISDICTION

23. This action arises under 18 U.S.C. §§ 1030 and 1961 et seq., and federal jurisdiction is appropriate pursuant to 18 U.S.C. § 1964, as hereinafter more fully appears.

INTRADISTRICT ASSIGNMENT

24. Venue is proper in the Northern District of California—Oakland Division because a substantial part of the property is located in, and the events or omissions which gave rise to this complaint occurred in, the county of Alameda. CornerStone has its principal place of business in, and James and Barrera reside in, Pleasanton, California. Also, CornerStone is informed and believes that Deploy HR, Inc. and other defendants have their principal places of business in Pleasanton, California.

ALLEGATIONS COMMON TO ALL CLAIMS

25. CornerStone is a national full service staffing firm that has provided comprehensive staffing solutions to its customers since its formation in 2003.

26. Since CornerStone's formation until March of 2012, James was a CornerStone employee with discretionary managerial authority over CornerStone's day-to-day business operations. Over the course of his employment, James was primarily responsible for, inter alia, opening CornerStone branch offices and acquiring other staffing companies on behalf of CornerStone in several different states across the country.

27. At some point, James became dissatisfied with his status as a mere employee of CornerStone and decided that he would take the business of CornerStone for himself.

28. In or about January of 2012, CornerStone discovered that James had developed and operated three schemes in which he used his position at CornerStone

1 to personally profit at CornerStone's expense. James' three schemes operated as 2 follows:

3
4 Parasite shell companies.

5 (a) James would open a branch office for CornerStone and secure a 6 profitable customer base. Once the branch was established and profitable, he 7 would surreptitiously form a shell staffing company in his own name that 8 occupied the same CornerStone office space, used the same facilities and 9 phone numbers, etc.—in other words, James' shell company was virtually 10 indistinguishable from CornerStone's branch office, except in name. James 11 secretly used CornerStone's assets to form the shell company, pay its 12 employees, pay its rent, and otherwise fund its operations. Over time, James'
13 shell company acted like a parasite using CornerStone's funding to slowly
14 steal CornerStone's customers at that particular location until eventually it 15 had effectively cut CornerStone out of the market. Then James would 16 contact CornerStone's ownership to advise that he needed to close the branch 17 office because it was no longer profitable or otherwise had lost its client base.
18 In fact, James closed the branch office because his parasite shell company
19 had killed CornerStone's branch office by taking all of its customers and 20 James was collecting all of the profits for himself.

21
22 Fake clients.

23 (b) James would secretly form his own shell company to act as a 24 fake CornerStone client. CornerStone serviced the fake client as it did with 25 ordinary clients by providing temporary employees and payroll services. In 26 fact, James was operating the fake client as his own staffing company and 27 using the CornerStone temporary employees and payroll services to provide 28 staffing services to the fake company's clients. Because CornerStone was

1 fronting temporary employee wages, insurance, and paying all overhead
2 expenses, the fake company could offer CornerStone's services to its own 3 clients at grossly reduced rates with short payment terms of 7 to 30 days.
4 CornerStone's payment terms with the fake clients were at least 90 days.
5 Accordingly, James used the disparity in costs and delayed payment terms to 6 personally profit at CornerStone's expense.

7
8 Insurance premium manipulation.

9 (c) James would artificially inflate CornerStone's workers
10 compensation insurance premiums to reduce CornerStone's competitiveness
11 in the marketplace to permit his shell companies to take CornerStone's 12 clients. At millions of dollars per year, one of CornerStone's largest 13 overhead expenses is workers compensation insurance premiums. It is 14 critical that CornerStone accurately report its employee payroll and employee 15 injury claims to its insurers to secure an insurance policy at a cost that is 16 commensurate with the risk. James intentionally submitted insurance
17 applications that omitted significant employee payroll figures. This caused 18 CornerStone's insurers to increase premiums by as much as $1,000,000
19 annually based on an incorrect payroll-to-injury ratio, and created a risk that 20 CornerStone would not be able to secure workers compensation insurance in 21 the future. Insurance premiums became so high that James attempted to 22 convince CornerStone to purge large portions existing clients to "new 23 businesses" that would, in turn, agree to pay CornerStone a service charge.
24 In fact, these "new businesses" were James' own shell staffing companies
25 and James intended to keep the profits for himself.

26
27 29. In the last ten years, James has implemented the fraudulent schemes
28 described above on at least ten different occasions through the following shell

1 staffing companies: (a) Batton Technical Engineering Consultants, Inc.; (b) Batton
 2 Diversified Staffing Solutions; (c) Hanbon-Caro I, LLC a/k/a Caro I, LLC; (d)
 3 Hanbon—MI I, LLC, d/b/a Technical Engineering Consultants; (e) Hanbon MI II,
 4 LLC d/b/a Batton Technical Engineering Consultants; (f) Marlette I, LLC; (g)
 5 Hanbon - PA I LLC; (h) Hanbon - CT I LLC; (i) TEC Group, Inc. (j) Deploy HR
 6 Inc. d/b/a Deploy HR Staffing, Inc.; (k) DeployHR Inc. d/b/a TEC also d/b/a 7 Batton;¹ and (l) Does 1-50 (these companies are hereafter collectively referred to as 8 the “Shell Staffing Companies”). The Shell Staffing Companies were formed and 9 operate in several different states, including without limitation, California, Arizona,
 10 Michigan, Pennsylvania, and Connecticut.

11 30. James had help. Plaintiff is informed and believes that at all relevant 12 times, Defendants Batton, Mannello, Douzjdian, Santos, and Barrera were aware of 13 James’ scheme and actively participated in the formation and operation of the Shell
 14 Staffing Companies, and personally profited from James’ schemes at CornerStone’s 15 expense.

16 17 FIRST CLAIM FOR RELIEF

18 (Violation of RICO (18 U.S.C. § 1962(a)-(d)) against James, 19 Batton, Mannello, Douzjdian, Santos, Barrera, and Does 51-100)

20 31. CornerStone hereby incorporates by reference each and every 21 allegation in paragraphs 1 through 30 above, as though fully set forth herein.

22 32. Defendants James, Batton, Mannello, Santos, Barrera, and Does 51-
 23 100 (the “RICO Defendants”) are individuals capable of holding a beneficial
 24 interest in property, and are “persons” within the meaning of 18 U.S.C § 1962.

25 33. The Shell Staffing Companies, and each of them, are a multi-state 26 association-in-fact that constitute an enterprise (hereinafter the “Enterprise”), as 27 defined by 18 U.S.C. § 1961, the activities of which affect interstate commerce.

28 ¹ The difference between items (j) and (k) is the space between “Deploy” and “HR.”

1 The Shell Staffing Companies interact with each other, and their decisions are 2 directed and influenced by the RICO Defendants.

3 34. The RICO Defendants committed dozens of racketeering acts (as 4 defined by 18 U.S.C. § 1961) over the last ten years. Specifically, the RICO
5 Defendants operated the schemes described in Paragraph 28 above to personally
6 profit at CornerStone's expense. The RICO Defendants perpetrated their fraudulent
7 schemes on CornerStone by intentionally delivering or causing the delivery of false
8 information in interstate commerce through the US Postal Service, email, and 9 telephone in the form of false purchase orders, false invoices, false payroll records, 10 false accounting records, false profit projections, false insurance applications, and 11 deliberate verbal misrepresentations, each instance of which constitutes a violation
12 of 18 U.S.C. §§ 1341 and/or 1343. Also, the operation of the RICO Defendants'
13 schemes necessarily involved the laundering of monetary instruments in violation
14 of 18 U.S.C. § 1956(a)(1) and/or 1956(a)(3).

15 35. The RICO Defendants violated 18 U.S.C § 1962(a) by using the 16 proceeds derived from their racketeering activity to establish and operate the 17 Enterprise.

18 36. The RICO Defendants violated 18 U.S.C § 1962(b) by acquiring and 19 maintaining an interest in the Enterprise through their pattern of racketeering 20 activity.

21 37. As employees of and/or individuals associated with the Enterprise, the 22 RICO Defendants violated 18 U.S.C § 1962(c) by conducting and participating in 23 the Enterprise's affairs through a racketeering activity.

24 38. The RICO Defendants violated 18 U.S.C § 1962(d) by conspiring to 25 violate 18 U.S.C. §1962, as explained above.

26 39. As a direct and proximate result of the RICO Defendants' conduct, 27 CornerStone was harmed in an amount to be determined at trial, but which sum is 28 in excess of $10,000,000.

SECOND CLAIM FOR RELIEF

(Violation of the Computer Fraud & Abuse Act (18 U.S.C. § 1030)

against James, Barrera, and Does 51-100)

40. CornerStone hereby incorporates by reference each and every allegation in paragraphs 1 through 39 above, as though fully set forth herein.

41. On or about March 23, 2012, Barrera and James knowingly and with the intent to defraud CornerStone in furtherance of the schemes described in Paragraphs 28-30 above, accessed CornerStone's nationwide network of computer systems without authorization, or in a matter that exceeded their authorized access, and by means of such conduct furthered their intended fraud by initiating denial of service attacks on the CornerStone computer servers to give the Shell Staffing Companies and the RICO Defendants a competitive advantage over CornerStone in the marketplace. Additionally, Barrera and James knowingly caused the transmission of a program, information, code, or command, or otherwise intentionally accessed Cornerstone's computers without authorization, and as a result of such conduct, intentionally or recklessly caused damage to CornerStone's computers.

42. James conspired with Barrera and otherwise attempted to defraud CornerStone in the manner described above.

43. As a direct and proximate result of the defendants' conduct, CornerStone was harmed in an amount to be determined at trial, but which sum is in excess of $10,000.

THIRD CLAIM FOR RELIEF

(Breach of Duty against James)

44. CornerStone hereby incorporates by reference each and every allegation in paragraphs 1 through 43 above, as though fully set forth herein.

45. As an employee of CornerStone, James owed CornerStone a duty of loyalty during the term of his employment not to act contrary to the interests of his

1 employer. Moreover, as the general manager of CornerStone's headquarters in 2 Pleasanton, California, with discretionary managerial authority over the affairs of the 3 Pleasanton location, James owed fiduciary duties to CornerStone.

4 46. James breached his duties of loyalty and his fiduciary duties to 5 CornerStone by, inter alia, the following acts: James breached his duties of loyalty and 6 his fiduciary obligations by operating the schemes described in Paragraphs 28-30
7 above for purpose of personally profiting at CornerStone's expense. James violated
8 his duty of loyalty as an existing CornerStone employee in suborning the other
9 employees to leave CornerStone simultaneously; James breached his fiduciary duties
10 to CornerStone by using his knowledge of the then-existing employees' compensation
11 so as to make enticing offers to them to quit their employment with CornerStone and 12 work for Shell Staffing Companies at a higher rate of compensation. James further 13 breached his duties of loyalty and his fiduciary obligations as a manager of 14 CornerStone's Pleasanton office by hiding the extent of the employee defections that 15 he engineered from CornerStone so that the set-up of the Shell Staffing Companies
16 would be a fait accompli. James, working with Shell Staffing Companies, further 17 acted to guarantee the demise of CornerStone and its prospects of continuing 18 advantageous economic relations by stripping the office of its files and records, and by 19 forwarding telephone calls to the Shell Staffing Companies.

20 47. CornerStone did not give informed consent to James' conduct.

21 48. As a direct and proximate result of James' conduct, CornerStone was 22 harmed in an amount to be determined at trial, but which sum is in excess of 23 $10,000,000.

24 49. James' conduct was fraudulent and malicious, and accordingly, in 25 addition to actual damages, CornerStone is entitled to recover punitive and
26 exemplary damages in an amount sufficient to punish James and to discourage him
27 from acting in a similar manner in the future.

FOURTH CLAIM FOR RELIEF

(Usurpation of Corporate Opportunity against James)

50. CornerStone hereby incorporates by reference each and every allegation in paragraphs 1 through 49 above, as though fully set forth herein.

51. James is a CornerStone employee with discretionary managerial control over its day-to-day business operations.

52. Beginning in about 2009, James, by virtue of his position as a CornerStone manager, became aware of various opportunities available to CornerStone in several states to acquire new customers in need of staffing services. These opportunities belonged to CornerStone.

53. James breached his fiduciary duty to CornerStone by usurping CornerStone's opportunities for his own personal gain, as described in Paragraphs 28-30 above.

54. As a direct and proximate result of James' conduct, CornerStone was harmed in an amount to be determined at trial, but which sum is in excess of $10,000,000.

55. James' conduct was fraudulent and malicious, and accordingly, in addition to actual damages, CornerStone is entitled to recover punitive and exemplary damages in an amount sufficient to punish James and to discourage him from acting in a similar manner in the future.

FIFTH CLAIM FOR RELIEF

(Fraud against all James and Does 51-100)

56. CornerStone hereby incorporates by reference each and every allegation in paragraphs 1 through 55 above, as though fully set forth herein.

57. James is a CornerStone employee with discretionary managerial control over its day-to-day business operations. Beginning in about 2009, James and the other defendants knowingly acted against CornerStone's interests by

1 operating the schemes described in Paragraphs 28-30 above for purpose of 2 personally profiting at CornerStone's expense.

3 58. To further his unlawful schemes, James represented to Mary Anderson
4 (CornerStone's owner) in business records, emails, telephone conversations, and in-
5 person discussions that (a) CornerStone branch offices needed to be closed because 6 they had lost their customers or were otherwise not profitable; (b) James had 7 arranged to loan CornerStone money to companies seeking "cheap money" to 8 acquire additional profit sources and realize an annual rate of about 21%; (c)
9 CornerStone's workers compensation insurance premiums were so high that 10 CornerStone needed to purge existing clients to maintain its competitiveness in the 11 marketplace, or risk an uninsurable level of payroll.

12 59. James' representations were false. In fact, (a) James wanted to close 13 CornerStone branches because he had formed his own shell companies that had 14 siphoned off CornerStone customers at those branch locations; (b) the companies
15 seeking "cheap money" were James' own companies and he was using 16 CornerStone's "loans" to fund his competing staffing operations while returning
17 CornerStone's investment at a rate of 0-1.5%; (c) James had intentionally submitted
18 false insurance applications that omitted significant payroll figures to artificially
19 inflate CornerStone's insurance premiums so that his own companies could take 20 CornerStone's business.

21 60. James knew that his representations were false at the time they were 22 made, or made them recklessly without regard for their truth.

23 61. James intended that CornerStone rely on his representations.

24 62. CornerStone reasonably relied on James' representations by permitting
25 James to close branch offices and unknowingly loan money to James' competing 26 companies.

27 63. As a direct and proximate result of James' conduct, CornerStone was 28 harmed in an amount to be determined at trial, but which sum is in excess of 1 $10,000,000.

2 64. James' conduct was fraudulent and malicious, and accordingly, in
3 addition to actual damages, CornerStone is entitled to recover punitive and
4 exemplary damages in an amount sufficient to punish James and to discourage him
5 from acting in a similar manner in the future.

6
7 SIXTH CLAIM FOR RELIEF

8 (Intentional Interference with Contractual Relations against all Defendants)

9 65. CornerStone hereby incorporates by reference each and every 10 allegation in paragraphs 1 through 64 above, as though fully set forth herein.

11 66. Prior to defendants' implementation of the schemes described in 12 Paragraphs 28-30 above, CornerStone had numerous contracts with various 13 companies to provide staffing services.

14 67. Defendants were aware of the existence of these contracts, and 15 intended to disrupt their performance. Defendants prevented the performance of 16 these contracts by transferring CornerStone's rights under the contract to 17 Defendants or entities owned or operated by Defendants.

18 68. As a direct and proximate result of defendants' conduct, CornerStone 19 was harmed in an amount to be determined at trial, but which sum is in excess of 20 $10,000,000.

21 69. Defendants' conduct was fraudulent and malicious, and accordingly, in 22 addition to actual damages, CornerStone is entitled to recover punitive and 23 exemplary damages in an amount sufficient to punish defendants and to discourage 24 them from acting in a similar manner in the future.

SEVENTH CLAIM FOR RELIEF

(Conversion against all Defendants)

70. CornerStone hereby incorporates by reference each and every allegation in paragraphs 1 through 69 above, as though fully set forth herein.

71. CornerStone owned, possessed, or had a right to possess its corporate funds and assets.

72. Defendants intentionally and substantially interfered with CornerStone's property by taking possession of millions of dollars of CornerStone's funds for their own personal use without CornerStone's consent.

73. As a direct and proximate result of defendants' conduct, CornerStone was harmed in an amount to be determined at trial, but which sum is in excess of $10,000,000.

74. Defendants' conduct was fraudulent and malicious, and accordingly, in addition to actual damages, CornerStone is entitled to recover punitive and exemplary damages in an amount sufficient to punish defendants and to discourage them from acting in a similar manner in the future.

EIGHTH CLAIM FOR RELIEF

(Unfair Competition in Violation of Cal. Bus. & Prof. Code § 17200 et seq. against all Defendants)

75. CornerStone hereby incorporates by reference each and every allegation in paragraphs 1 through 74 above, as though fully set forth herein.

76. Defendants are knowingly engaged in unlawful, fraudulent, and unfair business practices through their implementation and participation in the schemes described in Paragraphs 28-30 above.

77. As a direct and proximate result of defendants' conduct, defendants were unjustly enriched in an amount to be determined at trial, but which sum is in excess of $10,000,000.

NINTH CLAIM FOR RELIEF

(Misappropriation of Trade Secrets against

James, the Shell Staffing Companies, and Does 1-50)

78. CornerStone hereby incorporates by reference each and every allegation in paragraphs 1 through 77 above, as though fully set forth herein.

79. CornerStone's customer list and applicant customer list, and the information related thereto constitute trade secrets of CornerStone in that:

(a) Information concerning customers and prospective customers is in fact the life blood of CornerStone's business; such information is costly to accumulate and has independent economic value because it is not generally known to the public; in order to accumulate this data a competitor would have to expend great sums of money; and by counseling its employees on the confidential nature of the employer customer list, applicant customer list and information related thereto and by restricting access to same in its offices, CornerStone has taken efforts that are reasonable under the circumstances to maintain the secrecy of its trade secrets; and,

(b) California Business & Professions Code Section 16607 expressly defines CornerStone's applicant list and employer list as trade secrets under California law.

80. Defendants misappropriated CornerStone's trade secrets by (a) acquiring them by theft, bribery, misrepresentation, espionage, in breach of a duty to maintain their secrecy, and/or other improper means; and (b) disclosing and using them without CornerStone's consent, and knowing or having reason to know at the time they were disclosed that they were acquired by theft, bribery, misrepresentation, espionage, in breach of a duty to maintain their secrecy, and/or other improper means, as more particularly described in Paragraphs 28-30 above. As a result of the defendants' activities in misappropriating CornerStone's trade

1 secrets, CornerStone has been damaged by a loss of business in an amount
 2 according to proof. CornerStone is informed and believes that such an amount
 3 exceeds the jurisdictional limit of this Court. CornerStone is further informed and 4 believes that defendants, and each of them, have profited by their misappropriation
 5 of CornerStone's trade secrets and CornerStone seeks recovery of the unjust
 6 enrichment caused by such misappropriation.

7 81. The acts of the defendants herein described, the use of the aforesaid 8 valuable trade secrets and confidential information by defendants and solicitation of 9 applicants and employers who are identified at great cost and expense by 10 CornerStone are causing, and unless restrained will continue to cause irreparable 11 harm, injury and damage to CornerStone in that it is now and will be extremely 12 difficult, if not impossible, to ascertain the amount of monetary damages that will 13 afford CornerStone adequate relief. Furthermore, unless restrained, CornerStone is 14 informed and believes that the defendants will continue to make contact with and 15 place applicants of CornerStone, forever removing said applicants from the job
 16 pool, and will thereby forever deprive CornerStone of the benefit of its efforts in 17 locating and identifying said applicants and in generating future profits and benefits
 18 therefrom unless and until enjoined by this Court.

19 82. CornerStone is informed and believes and based thereon alleges that 20 the activities of defendants, and each of them, in misappropriating CornerStone's 21 trade secrets was willful and malicious and accordingly seeks an award of 22 exemplary damages and attorney fees under Civil Code Sections 3426.3 and 23 3426.4.

24
 25 WHEREFORE, CornerStone demands judgment against defendants as 26 follows:

27 On The Rico Claims:

- 28 1. For compensatory and treble damages according to proof, pursuant to
